LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

ALLEN TESTON
PRESIDENT

The Central Texas Police Chiefs and Sheriff's Association (CTAPCSA) recognizes the critical role of networking and collaboration among law enforcement leaders in our region. To effectively address the complex challenges of crime and social disorder, it is essential that we continue to work together, share resources, and support one another. We are proud of the success of our monthly meetings, where members enjoyed great meals, engaged in productive discussions, and were introduced to valuable new resources from our vendor sponsors. However, we also recognize the need to increase member attendance and participation. In 2025, we will focus on growing our membership base while encouraging current members to engage more fully in our association's activities.

In 2024, we took significant strides toward enhancing the association's structure. We began the process of reviewing and revising our by-laws to improve their efficiency and effectiveness. This important work is being led by Scott Holt, our association Secretary, and his dedicated by-laws committee. We anticipate completing this task in the first or second quarter of 2025, which will ensure that our association remains flexible and responsive to the evolving needs of our members.

Our 23rd Annual Spring Classic Bass Tournament, a cornerstone of our fundraising efforts for the association's scholarship program, was delayed until September due to severe spring flooding in our local lakes. We are incredibly grateful to Billy Conway for his ongoing leadership and organization of this event. The funds raised from the tournament are crucial in supporting the children of active peace officers and telecommunicators, providing them with essential financial assistance as they pursue academic or vocational education.

We sincerely appreciate the continued support of all our members and sponsors. Together, we will continue to make a meaningful impact in our communities. We look forward to another successful year in 2025, strengthened by collaboration, commitment, and shared goals.

LETTER TO SPONSORS

As the current President of the Central Texas Area Chiefs of Police and Sheriff's Association, I ask for your help supporting our organization's efforts to provide college scholarships for police officers and their children. These scholarships are vital resources that greatly assist recipients in covering the costs of higher education.

Our association consists of local, state, and federal law enforcement executives who meet monthly to collaborate on improving our communities' safety. One of our primary fundraising efforts is our annual bass tournament, which raises funds for our scholarship program. In addition, we welcome sponsorships year-round and are happy to promote all sponsors on our website.

In 2023, we expanded our scholarship program to include not only police officers but also dispatchers and other key personnel working within our local police departments. Furthermore, we broadened the eligibility to include students pursuing higher education in all forms of secondary education, including trade schools. We need strong community partners like yourself to make this expansion possible.

We greatly appreciate your support of our association and the valuable work we do. Your generosity helps ensure that our law enforcement officers and their families have the opportunities they deserve to pursue higher education. Thank you for your continued support of both this association and your local law enforcement community.

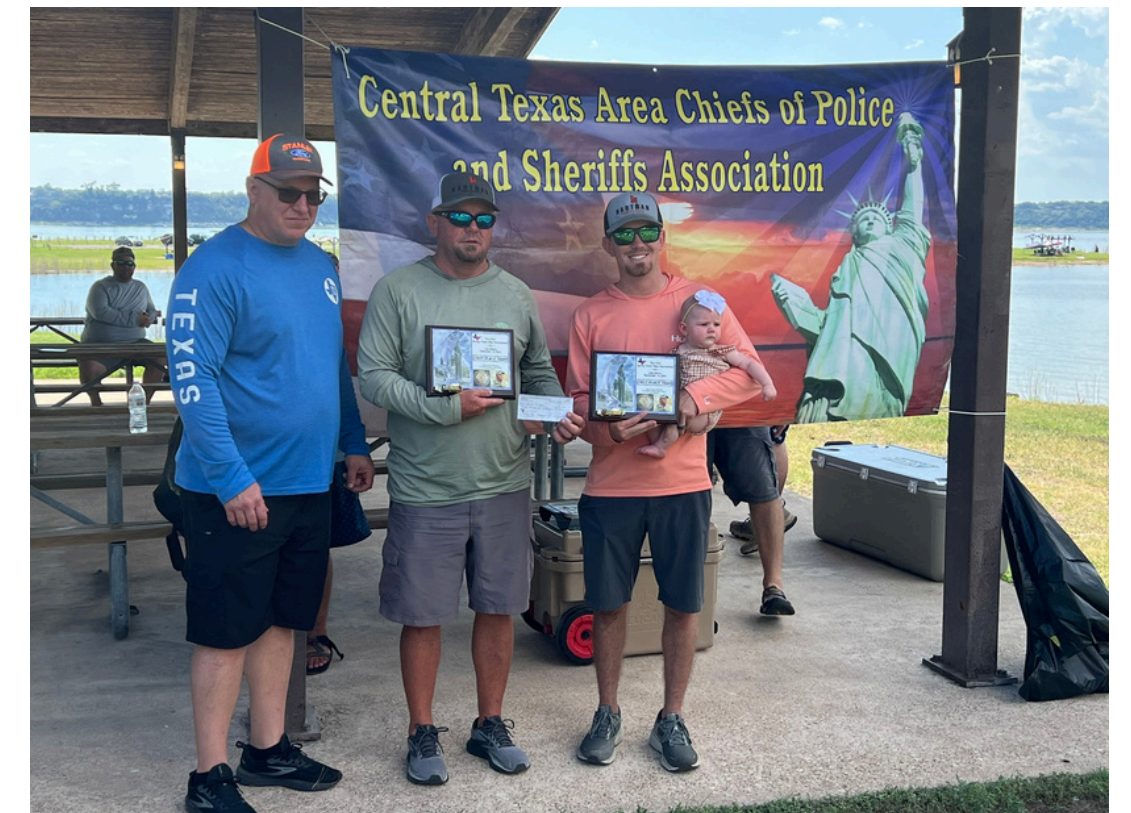

Respectfully,

Allen Teston

President, Central Texas Area Chiefs of Police and Sheriff's Association
